

Terms of use

The data of the REACH studies which are published in this repository on Figshare is made pseudo-anonymous and can therefore not be directly traced back to individual patients. However, as it is patient data it might be identifiable, and data security needs to be ensured. Therefore the following terms of use apply:

- Data is published with a permanent embargo, that may however be lifted upon request.
- Requests for access to the data may be submitted to below mentioned contact if data is required for research purposes.
- Data is not shared for commercial purposes.
- The request for data should contain: 1) purpose of the research, 2) study methods, 3) type of data that is required. This request will be assessed by the main investigator of this study, Dr. Mel Major.
- Before granting permission for use of data a formal agreement should be signed, containing information about 1. Methodology, 2. Publications and 3. Authorships
- After a signed agreement, data will be shared via a personal link which grants access to the specific files on Figshare
- Data is available for 15 years after the end of this study (until June 2037)

For requests for use of data please contact:
