

Terms of Use

The data of the RODEO trial that is published here on Figshare is made pseudo-anonymous and can therefore not be directly linked to individual patients. However, as it is patient data that might be indirectly identifiable, data security needs to be ensured. Therefore, the following terms apply:

- Data is published with a permanent embargo, that may however be lifted on request
- Requests for access to the data may be submitted to below mentioned contact if data is required for research purposes
- Data is not shared for commercial purposes
- The request for access to the data should contain: 1. Purpose of the research, 2. Study methods, 3. Type of data that is required, and will be assessed by the main investigator of this trial, dr. Tim Schepers
- Before granting permission for use of data a formal agreement should be signed, containing information about: 1. Methodology, 2. Publications, 3. Authorships.
- After a signed agreement, data will be shared via a personal link, that grants access to the specific files on Figshare
- Data is available for 15 years after the end of this trial (until July the 1st of 2035)

For requests for use of data please contact:
